MARKET WILL NOT BE CITY GARAGE

Whittet Assures Protestants That Board Has Approved No Such Plan.

POLLARD TO INVESTIGATE

City Attorney Is Asked to Look Up Reported Restriction in Dedication.

The Administrative Board has at no time proposed to convert the old Sixth Street Market into a municipal garage, and has no intention, at present at least, of doing so, Chairman Robert Whittet told a large delegation of citizens yesterday afternoon. Between forty and fifty property-owners and other persons who appeared before the board to protest against the abandoning the building as a market, and against its proposed utilization as a garage for the cars of the automobiles and motor trucks of the several city departments.

After hearing from a dozen speakers, the board entered an order requesting the City Attorney to investigate the terms upon which the Sixth Street Market property was dedicated to the city and to submit a report. The action was taken when it was brought out during the hearing that the property had been dedicated by the original owners on condition that it be used for market purposes only. The assertion could not be verified, and the City Attorney was asked to investigate the title.

How Report Started.
The report that the board proposed to convert the Sixth Street Market into a municipal garage became current recently when it was reported that the board had agreed to order the building to be converted into a garage, but no formal order to that effect was entered.

The abandonment of the building as a market recommended itself to the Administrative Board, because of the number of stalls. The restrictions as to hours of opening and closing, it was stated, caused stallholders to move to quarters outside the market, where they were at liberty to fix their schedules to suit their trade. It was believed by several members of the board that the remaining stallholders could find room in the vegetable market under the Old Armory, and that the Sixth Street Market building could be put to better use by the city in some other service.

Many Merchants Protest.
Among the citizens who appeared yesterday in opposition to the plan providing for the abandoning of the building as a market were J. G. Corley, Moses Thalheimer, L. O. Miller, W. H. Zimmermann, O. S. Morton and William C. Schmidt. Several of these told the board that the carrying out of the proposed plan would seriously injure the value of property they owned in the vicinity, making it less desirable for business purposes. One argument was that the establishment of a garage in that vicinity would seriously affect adjoining and nearby business property, but another plan was given for the disposal of the building in case it is found that the terms of its dedication permit its use for another purpose. Mr. Schmidt said that he had no objection to the plan, but that it was not the present intention of the board to convert it into a garage. The ultimate disposition of the matter awaits the report of the City Attorney.

SENDS BIG TURKEY TO COLONEL MOSBY

Colonel Chapman Remembers His Old Friend's Eightieth Birthday To-Morrow.

Colonel John S. Mosby, the gallant Confederate, will celebrate his eightieth birthday to-morrow. When he sits down to his birthday dinner at his home in Washington he will have before him one of the finest turkeys that ever went from Virginia soil, a great big gobbler which was sent to him by his old comrade, Colonel William H. Chapman, of Richmond. A good many things might escape Colonel Chapman's memory, but he has never forgotten the fact that December 6 is the anniversary of Colonel Mosby's birth. The turkey was ordered weeks ago, it is a fine specimen and will bring from Colonel Mosby a letter of thanks dealing with many questions in which he and his friend are interested.

"Two months ago I was talking with Colonel Mosby about the Mexican situation," said Colonel Chapman last night, "and I asked him if he would like to go to the front in the event of trouble. He told me that every man only one way by which people could be returned in the republic, that the nations would simply have to go in and take possession. My idea is that Mexico should be divided into three strips; said Colonel Mosby, one strip going to the United States, another to England and another to Germany, and he was particular in stating that the United States should come first."

Colonel Chapman says that Colonel Mosby is still hale and hearty, remarkably so, and hearty for a man eighty years old.

ABOUT TORIC LENSES

Toric (curved) lenses are more becoming because they conform to the shape of the eye. They are more comfortable because there are no visible "edges" to annoy. They give a wider field of vision because they fit close, and all parts of the lens being equi-distant from the eye, they allow the use of the entire lens.

NOT LIABLE FOR MOSCHETTI FIRE

Board Rejects $1,569 Claim Upon Advice of City Attorney Pollard.

Upon the advice of City Attorney Pollard, who held that the city was not liable, the Administrative Board yesterday entered an order recommending that the claim of P. Moschetti for damages in the sum of $1,569 be rejected. The paper was returned to the Council Committee on Claims with this recommendation.

Moschetti, who operates a store at Lombardy and Ashland Streets, presented a claim to the City Council for $1,569, the value of a barn and contents, which were destroyed by fire on November 4. The fire, he asserted in his petition, originated in a pile of refuse on a city dump at that point, and was communicated to the fence and barn on his adjoining property.

The claim was referred for investigation to the Street Cleaning Department, which reported through Superintendent Conn that an inquiry it was found that the Moschetti fire could in no way be attributed to the small place on the dump. Mr. Conn reported in detail, showing that the condition of the fence, which was burned on the Moschetti side, precluded the theory of the fire's being transferred from the dump.

Paragraph Pulpit

The Divinity of Man—The Incarnation. The old theology taught the Incarnation—that there were some nineteen centuries ago, a man in whom dwelt the presence of God—that in Him the "word became flesh." The new theology also declares this doctrine, but it insists that it is broader than the former teachers declared; that not in one man alone has there dwelt the presence of God, but that in many men—yet that in all men there is the spark of Divinity; that whenever and wherever the soul of man comes into harmony with God, that soul may declare "I and my Father are one."—Unitarian Publicity Committee. CLAIMS RIGHT TO CROSS NEW BRIDGE

Power Company Says Fourteenth Street Franchise Carries Trans-River Privilege.

President Wheelwright, of the Virginia Railway and Power Company, notified the Administrative Board yesterday that his company will adhere to its position that the franchise under which it operates its cars on Fourteenth Street, gives it the right to construct tracks and operate cars over the new Mayo Bridge.

The letter acknowledges receipt of the communication from the Administrative Board, dated November 25, 1913, and an annual rental of $10,000 for the use of the bridge by the traction company. It contains no indication, however, that the board's terms will be accepted without contest.

Mr. Wheelwright tendered payment of the costs incurred by the city in constructing tracks and paying the roadway between the tracks and two feet on both sides, and advises the board that his company will be ready to proceed with the operation of its lines across the bridge in accordance with the terms of its franchise, as soon as approaches have been completed, so that the tracks of the company can be connected with the tracks on the bridge.

No delay in operating cars is anticipated because of the difference between the company and the board as to toll charges. The power company, it is believed, will bring a friendly suit to determine its rights in the matter. If the city's right to impose a toll charge is upheld, the rental paid by the board will in all probability go uncollected.

KNOCKED DOWN BY PIG

Frightened Animal Runs Into Woman, Causing Her to Fall, Injuring Head.

A frightened pig, which ran amuck yesterday afternoon at Fourth and Venable Streets, struck Mrs. Sarah E. Maynard, of 818 North Twenty-fifth Street, knocking her down. Her head struck a stone, inflicting a scalp wound. A hired car was sent for the City Hospital ambulance, and Dr. M. F. Torregrossa responded. After rendering emergency treatment he removed Mrs. Maynard to her home. While badly hurt, it was said her condition was not regarded as serious.

Excitement was caused by the pig, which had been chased by several boys. Mrs. Maynard had left the home of her son after dinner, and was stepping from the sidewalk when the animal ran against her, causing her to lose her balance and fall. The pig was finally caught.

In Police Court. Elmer Walker, colored, was held for the grand jury yesterday morning on the charge of shooting Henry Atkin, colored, on November 2, 1913. Walker was fined $10 and costs for carrying a concealed weapon, a misdemeanor.

Charles Hunt, colored, was fined $10 and costs for striking James Austin.

AD MEN TO OPEN REGULAR OFFICE

Richmond Club Will Establish Headquarters in Chamber of Commerce Building.

The Richmond Advertisers' Club, at its weekly luncheon yesterday, decided to open permanent headquarters in the new Chamber of Commerce and Manufacturers' Building, at Sixth and Main Streets. On a smaller scale, it proposes to maintain an office like that of the Chamber of Commerce, the Retail Merchants' Association and similar organizations.

The club plans to lease one room in the new building, and to install in it a complete reference library of advertising literature. Here will be placed the journals and publications of the advertising business, together with all other material bearing on the subject. Instead of securing a paid secretary, the club will furnish each member with a key to the office, and will require that each one upon visiting the library shall register. The headquarters will be opened as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made.

It was announced at yesterday's luncheon that the education committee has arranged a series of ten illustrated lectures on advertising, one to be delivered each week for ten weeks, in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce. The lecturers should will illustrate successful advertising ventures, publicity campaigns of unusual note, and will expose fraudulent campaigns, which have been traveled today by the "snake-oil" peddlers. The dates for the lectures, which will be free to the public, will be announced later.

An advertising show, similar to the successful architects' show, held here last spring, will be conducted by the club this winter. It is proposed to place on exhibition for one week specimens of the best "copy" prepared by big advertisers, advertising agencies and other mediums.

FALLS DEAD IN BAR

Aged Man Fatally Stricken as Whiskey Is Placed in Glass.

Just as the bartender placed a bottle of whiskey and a glass upon the bar before him, Martin Kern, seventy years old, who lived at 1619 West Cary Street, fell to the floor and died in a few minutes. He was found by a neighbor, who called a doctor. It was at first thought that he had suffered a fainting spell, and a call was sent for the City Hospital ambulance. He was dead when Dr. M. F. Torregrossa arrived.

The police were notified, and Coroner Taylor was summoned. After an examination he pronounced death due to heart trouble, and said an inquest would not be necessary. It was learned that Kern, who came here several years ago from Baltimore, had been in poor health for some time. Which he was able to work he followed the occupation of a street-paver.
